

liberty worth

Liberty is an artist, quilter, designer, teacher and poet. For Liberty, art and creating are a way of life - helping us make sense of the world - its beauty and pain - and enabling us to take part in the act of creation.

As an artist, Liberty works at piecing works together from broken and disparate parts to create beauty and wholeness from seemingly unrelated pieces.

These passions come across in her teaching as well - Liberty shares her artistic knowledge and tips generously, enabling participants to connect with their creative sides (even if undiscovered) and come away with fresh perspective and the type of creative problem solving that grows from time spent in the pause and flow of creative play.

PRAISE FOR LIBERTY:

"I have witnessed Liberty use her incredible artistic and facilitation skills to guide people into creative experiences that unlock insights and meaningful discoveries in their lives."

Dr. Steve Ralph | Founder & President
EPIC Impact Society

"Her years of experience as an artist are evident in her instruction, which was engaging, informative, and enthusiastic. She brings a positive energy that makes for easy communication between herself and her students, quickly building rapport with diverse audiences"

Emily Zaiden | Center Director
CRAFT IN AMERICA

SPEAKING TOPICS:

Meditative Collage

Attendees are guided through a short art history lesson about collage and are given small projects that build on to each other in ways that are accessible and creative.

Using tools that are found in the home, works of art are made that are not only fun to make, but are beautiful to keep and encourage further creative exploration.

Get into the creative flow. (Multiple projects available)

Paper Quilt as a way to Express Deeper Thoughts

Quilts are a part of American history. But they are not only historically applicable. Learn a little bit about how simple shapes arranged together can not only create modern art, but can tackle big questions and lead to new answers.

Learn from a modern artist who uses this technique and use what you've learned to make your own work of art.
